THE MAN FROM MAINE MAKES A SPEECH AT SPRINGFIELD.

ADDRESSES A GREAT AUDIENCE

WARNS HIS HEARERS AGAINST THE FREE COINAGE FALLACIES.

3obert E. Lewis, Pat Dyer and Others Delivered Addresses in the Afternoon-Many Visitors in Springfield From Surrounding Towns.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 23 .- (Special.) The irizzling rain to-day did not prevent the Republicans from holding the biggest rally of the campaign. Speaker Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, was the chief attraction. R. E. Lewis and Pat Dyer were also scheduled for speeches. Messrs. Lewis and Dyer spoke this afternoon and Mr. Reed to-night at the Baldwin theater. Marching clubs from Clinton, Deepwater, Lebanon and other neighboring points came in this morning. Before noon the Republican headquarters on the North and South sides

To-night Speaker Reed addressed all the people that could possibly hear him at the Baldwin. He said that it had been but a short time since he supposed it would be of little use for him to speak in Missouri, as the state was considered hopelessly Democratic, but he had since found that he knew but little of the world in which

"This is a campaign of education," he said, "and the greatest educator is business, in which the people have had a great education the past four years. The question is whether business will continue bad or not. I do not intend to make a partisan speech, as the Democrats in all the states are doing us so much good it seems unnecessary. The way to do right is to follow the advice of good men. The Democrats advised us four years ago, promlead us to the land flowing with milk and honey. We took the advice, and here we are. They told us we needed low prices for everything we bought to complete our happiness. We have got things cheap. We introduced the foreign labor of Europe to get things cheap. These same gentleman now tell us we want high prices. I believe in prices as low as are consistent with honest wages for the workingmen. I want prices high enough to pay the wage-earner, and when that is done the world will take care of the rest.

"If a man is going to sup with the devil, he had better have a very iong spoon. If your repudiating half your debt would bring ruin to the country and you could sell nothing with which to pay the other half, you would be no better off. At this time we have more money than we have time we have more money than we have business, yet they say we want more money to restore business. Money is capital only when it is used for transfer. I have a house worth $5,000, but if I had the gold house worth $5,000, but if I had the gold for it I could not use it. Suppose I spend the $5,000 in sinking a mine at Joplin. It is gone. More business, I repeat, is what you want. Money enables you to transfer property, and if you have a chance for profitable investment in labor you will make it, thus starting the wheels of commerce it.

"We gave up our markets four years ago to get that of South America. We tried it and now Great Britain has our markets, and she is prosperous. Now, let's get them back.

"If a man wanted to borrow $10 and told you he would pay back but half, would you let him have it? No. Weil, don't you think, then, the men who have $10,000 have as much sense as you have? And the men who have $100,000 as much? I suppose when you put labor into that which you have no use for it is a waste. We have more money now than we had from '73 to

'92, yet we have worse times
"Rich men are not always the creditors. Poor men are putting money into life as-sociations, savings companies, etc. We are all lending. If you have any insurance you are a lender.

"From '61 to '65 we had a depreciated cur-From 61 to 65 we had a depreciated currency and commodities went up 132 per cent, while labor went up only 48 per cent. Labor lost 36 per cent, and it has never been made up since, and has any one offered to make it up? If I have a barrel of flour and can't sell it to-day I can sell it to-morrow, but if I have a day's labor to sell to-day I must sell it to-day, for to-morrow it will not be worth anything.

"If buying $600,000,000 worth of silver causes a loss of $170,000,000 and makes the causes a loss of $170,000,000, and makes price of silver go down, what will be the effect of colning all the rest?" Speaker Reed was frequently interrupted with wild applause. He kft for the West on the Frisco soon after completing his

Their Ticket Through. Topeka, Oct. 23 .- (Special.) Attorney L W. Keplinger, of Kansas City, Kas., representing the so-called Trickett Republic ans, renewed his application in the supreme court to-day for a writ of mandamus to compel County Clerk Daniels, of Wyancounty, to place the ticket headed by Getty for state cenator on the official ballot as the regular Republican ticket. The election board refused to do it Thursday, by sustaining the protest filed against that ticket. In the application, it is claimed that the contest board of Wyandotte county had no jurisdiction to pass on the questions contained in the protest. The supreme court granted an alternative writ, and the case will be heard on its merits next Monday.

Eldorado, Kas., Oct. 23.-Butler county had a regular Republican revival last night. At Eldorado, Lieutenant Governor Troutman made one of his telling speeches. J. K. DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

J. L. Bascom, the husband of Mrs. Kate L. Bascom, who, with her 4-year-old child, was asphyxiated by gas in her room at 603 Oak street, Thursday morning, arrived in Kansas City yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from Clinton, Mo., where he is employed as a saddler and made the funeral arrangements. The husband and father was heart broken and his apparent grief was pitiful. As he stepped into the morgue at Carroll's undertaking room on McGee at Carroll's undertaking room on McGee street, and saw the remains of his wife and son on the cold slabs, he broke completely down and wept bitterly. He said he knew that his wife and son's death was accidental and that she had not committed suicide as the newspapers had stated. He also said that she had always had a horror of death and the fact that she was dressed when found was no indication that she had carefully planned the deed. Unable to find employment and worn out by her exertions, he said that she had laid on the bed and gone to sleep without undressing, the gas either having been blown out or the key in the valve accidentally opened after turning it off. After mailing the letter containing the $1 bill, which arrived at the house where his wife was rooming on Wednesday night, he secured $2 more from his employer and mailed it Thursday morning, with a special delivery stemp. This letter arrived here Thursday night, after he had been notified of her death. The funeral services were held from Carroll's undertaking rooms yesterday afternoon at $2 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Vassar officiating. The remains were buried in Union cemetery. street, and saw the remains of his wife

Two chambers contained empty shells; the remaining three were loaded.

Short Sketch of Landa.

Morris Landa was 36 years old. He was unmarried and had lived in Kansas City seven years, during which time he had been engaged continuously in the grain business. His mother, who, until a few business. His mother, who, until a few hours before the shooting, had been visiting him and his brother in Kansas City is now on her way to New York city. Tele grams have been sent to intercept her. Besides these two relatives, the deceased has living two sisters, one in Old Mexico and the other in Chattanooga, Tenn. They have been notified by wire, as has his late business partner, H. S. Downs, now in the City of Mexico in the interests of the firm. Mr. Landa's father, Joseph Landa, died month ago in Braunfels, Tex., and his mother, who lives in New York, was just returning from attending the funeral and had stopped over briefly to visit her sons here. By this time she probably knows of the fresh bereavement which has befallen her.

Something of the Murderer.

Fred H. Waitt, the man who fired the shot, is 50 years old. He is married and has one child, a little girl, 5 years old. They now live at Eighth and Central avenue, Kansas City, Kas., to which place they moved yesterday. Mrs. Waitt is near-ly beside herself with grief. She says she didn't notice her husband particularly when he came to get the revolver, as the house was in disorder and she was busy arranging the furniture. arranging the furniture.

Waltt first entered the services of Mr Landa in May, 1892. The firm was then styled the W. H. Harris Grain Company, and comprised Messrs. Harris, Bagley and Landa. Later, in February, 1893, the com-pany was reorganized and Waitt left its employ and entered the service of the International Export and Grain Company at Nevada, Mo. In April of this year he returned to Kansas City and again entered the employ of Mr. Landa, which positon he retained until last Thursday.

Had Been Reprimanded. He says that the deceased had repeatedly accused him of being hot-headed and had reprimanded him for drunkenness, and adds that their relations had been unfriendseveral days prior to the time of his discharge.

Claims Self-Defense.

When seen in his cell last night Waitt appeared nervous, but, as he had not en-tirely recovered from the effects of the liquor, he did not seem to fully realize the enormity of his act, and kept repeating that he would be acquitted, as he had shot in self-defense. He will be held for investigation by the coroner's jury, which will act in the case to-day.

Bethany, Mo., Oct. 23 .- After a three days' session, the state W. C. T. U. convention for Missouri closed to-day. One or two sessions have been held each day and the convention has proven one of the most successful held in years. There have been 175 delegates in attendance and hundreds of visitors. The sessions have been enhanced in interest by the presence of two national organizers, Miss Carrie Lee Carter and Miss Lillian Ward; two national superintendents Mrs. C. B. Ingalls, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Lucy Thurman, the latter being superintendent of work among the colored people. Last night interesting addresses were made by Miss Rebecca Krikorian, a native of Syria, who took for her subject, "Armenia," and by Mrs. Katherine Lente Stevenson, national corresponding secretary. The president's address, de-livered yesterday was an inspiration to the delegations and received the most cordial applause. So large was the attendance at many of the sessions that it was necesry to hold overflow meetings. The curtain raiser was a ten-round go to a draw, at 120 pounds, between Frank Patterson, of Brooklyn, and Joe Bernstein, of New York.

The principal bout was a twenty-round contest at catch weights between Dan Creedon, of Australia, and Henry Baker, of Chicago. Peter Maher and Bob Fitzsimmons were among the most prominent sports at the ringside. Fitzsimmons and Sharkey were matched to-day to box ten rounds on December 9 at San Francisco for a purse of $10,000, winner to take all. Martin Julian, the manager of Fitzsimmons, said that while Corbett was making up his mind to fight, Fitzsimmons will leave for San Francisco Thursday.

Henry Baker entered the ring at 9:45 o'clock, accompanied by Harry Tuthili, Henry Black, Johnny Oliver and Dan McMahon. Creedon showed up a few minutes later, with Sam Fitzpatrick, Paddy Gorman and Dennis Murphy as his seconds. Both men were weighed in at 160 pounds, and Creedon was the favorite in the betting.
